Savannah Hardscapes Donates to CCDS Community Garden

Savannah, GA – June 3, 2011 -- Savannah Hardscapes is donating $10,000 worth of materials and resources to the new community garden of Coastal Center for Developmental Services (CCDS). William Rhangos, co-owner of Savannah Hardscapes made the announcement after the CCDS Community Garden’s recent groundbreaking.

CCDS Executive Director Kathy Thomson explained, “It is exciting when a well-respected company like Savannah Hardscapes takes notice of your organization’s vision and wants to invest in that project to make it an even greater success.”

According to Thomson, the Hardeeville, South Carolina company is generously donating bricks, equipment use, labor and other materials to benefit the non-profit.

The CCDS Community Garden will grow produce to use in its subsidiary’s catering business, Quantum Catering, and the individuals with disabilities served by CCDS can assist in tending the garden. An additional fundraiser is underway where the community can purchase engraved “Legacy Bricks” that can be engraved with a personal sentiment for future use in the garden’s pathways. To purchase a Legacy Brick and commemorate someone in your life or a special occasion, you can go to the CCDS website and download a form at www.ccds-sav.org.
